Proven, World-Class Security

Data security, redundancy and chain-of-custody are on the forefront of most businesses' minds these days, as the repercussions of mismanaging or losing data can be catastrophic. As such, the security of our customers' data is paramount to Anacomp's business.

Our comprehensive security features run the gamut from our buildings and power supplies, security procedures and personnel screening, state-of-the-art monitoring and telecommunication technologies to various redundancies and backup systems.

Security features include:

- Our data center systems are fully redundant and monitored 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Our data center in Herndon, VA, for example, was designed in accordance with specifications by IBM security consultants. The building itself is physically protected by security guards, 24-hour-a-day camera surveillance, security badge readers and secure areas. It was built on dual power grids with a back-up generator to ensure around-the-clock data access.
- For our US government contracts, all of our data center employees have completed criminal background checks, have been fingerprinted, have had credit checks and have passed strict Federal security screens.
- Our docHarbor platform was originally designed for US military use and it utilizes our own proprietary software. As such, is much more difficult to penetrate than other more widely used data archive software systems.
- Our blue chip banking and financial customers have hired experts to regularly conduct external intrusion tests into our systems in an attempt to intentionally hack our database. They have also conducted onsite security audits themselves to inspect our systems and security. We have passed every test.

Helping Customers "Go Green"

It turns out an added bonus of the ability to decrease costs, streamline operations and reduce reliance on cumbersome paper processes is the capacity for our customers to conserve energy and natural resources. For example:

- By scanning and hosting documents in docHarbor Online, our customers eliminate the need to pass paper back and forth to each other and make lots of copies in order to process and approve them.
- Some Anacomp customers use docHarbor Online to store their "green bar" print stream reports (e.g. bank statements) so they don't need to print them for review. By leveraging our systems, they use less equipment themselves and use less energy.
- Customers of CaseLogistix reduce the need to print, Bates stamp, copy, scan and process the large amount of documents typically required as part of the discovery process.
- InvoiceLogistix eliminates the need to print, route and sign paper and electronic invoices as part of the approval process.
